The South's Answer.

The following poem, from the pen of S. M. A. C., recently appeared in the New York Evening Post.

It is told us by the gentlest of the Master's wondrous school,
In the twinkling of an eye, the healing of the pool,
And the dark, shadowy billows that have covered many a head,
And now stand in the light, seeming as the groves above our head,
Show a scene of peace and beauty, the healing of the pool,
For the healing of the nation of the sins of hate and strife.

Night was all too short for mourning, day was all too full of pain,
We were blinded to the sunshine by a salt and bitter rain,
Up to heaven went the wailing of our sore and bleeding heart,
And in the light of morning we saw a fragrant flower of death,
The rich blossoms of our nation, the healing of the pool,
And each heart, each nation of the sins of hate and strife.

Brethren, long and widely severed, ye shall never rue the day
When ye have sought to lighten the black of our nation's sin,
We will love and leave ye never, ye have bound us with a chain
Of love and truth, and ye have bound us with a chain,
We will love and leave ye never, ye have bound us with a chain,
We will love and leave ye never, ye have bound us with a chain.

We will love and leave ye never, ye have bound us with a chain,
We will love and leave ye never, ye have bound us with a chain,
We will love and leave ye never, ye have bound us with a chain,
We will love and leave ye never, ye have bound us with a chain.

River Items.

The river has fallen with great rapidity, only 9 feet on Harpeth to-day, against 40 feet ten days ago.

The landings along the river are in a wretched condition. At many places the mud is so deep that it is almost impossible for steamers to take on or put off freight.

The river came to a stand yesterday, and is slowly rising to-day.

The B. H. Cook passed down early in the week for Evansville. She had on board 100 tons pig iron from Betsy's Town. She will pass up every Sunday at noon.

The C. W. Anderson left on time Friday morning for Cairo, this is her first trip since the freeze up. She is a splendid boat and well officered.

Hillman passed up twenty-four hours behind time. Capt. Jo. says the next man that writes postal to him at Paducah, begging him to wait for twenty-four hours and he will receive a large lot of freight for Nashville, had better be very cautious how he puts in an appearance with a half dry load of Midco. Capt. Jo is one of the veterans, and has hosts of friends all along the river. May he live long and prosper.

Obituary.

Miss Dixie Farmer. Miss Dixie Farmer was born Nov. 18, 1853, died on Yellow Creek, Montgomery county, Tenn., Jan. 3, 1879, of diphtheria. Miss Dixie had made no public profession of religion, but had for some time been a seeker, and the change in her character had been very remarkable. She had lost much of the interest she had taken in worldly amusements since her mind had been directed to the more noble themes of another world. She told her friends, during her illness, she was praying, and before her death she had made a public profession of her faith in the resurrection of the body. She was a devoted mother, and her death was a great loss to her family. She was a devoted mother, and her death was a great loss to her family.
